

SHOOTOUT ROUND RULES

- Contestants who qualify for the FullBucket Shootout Round can choose if they want to participate. If they choose not to run, we will move down on our placings and take the next contestant who wishes to compete.
- A contestant can qualify on multiple horses. We will try to space them out far enough in the draw. We will wait for a contestant if they need more time.
- We will be taking the winner from both the 1st go and 2nd go of the futurity and maturity.
- We will then take the top 4 from the average placings after the two rounds.
- If the horse is a repeat qualifier, we will move down the placings. For example, if our round 1 winner is also our average winner, we will take that contestant and then move down the average list and take our 5th placing contestant in the average.
- We will drag after every 2. Each drag will have 1 futurity contestant and 1 maturity contestant. It will be a random draw. However, a futurity contestant will run first in one drag and a maturity contestant will get top of the drag in the next one. For example: 1. Futurity, 2. Maturity (drag) 3. Maturity 4. Futurity (drag) 5. Futurity 6. Maturity, etc.....
- We will have a guaranteed set payout for the shoot-out round.
- The times from the futurity contestants and maturity contestants will be averaged together and the fastest average will be declared the winning "team"
- The shoot-out round is a separate event from the futurity and maturity itself. The 3rd run will not count for the average of the futurity and maturity. We will still have the regular rounds and average payouts as before. The shoot-out round is just a bonus!!
- NEW IN 2023! Teams of 2 (consisting of 1 Maturity and 1 Futurity contestant) will be randomly drawn as a Team. The 6 teams will also be competing against each other for more prizes. These 6 teams will be auctioned off in a Calcutta before the race begins. The Calcutta will be paid out in 2 places (50% and 25%) The remaining 25% will be donated to the Remi Jane Brunson Memorial.
